THE DES MOINES CONVENTION.

The first of the two conventions agreed upon at the Washington conference of December 15 has been called to meet at Des Moines, Iowa, on February 22 and 23. The National Bimetallist league is instructed to call a later convention at some point in the South, the primary object of these conventions being to unify the silver influence of the country in the congressional elections of next fall and to send men to congress pledged to make the restoration of silver to full mintage rights the first duty, and independent of all party dictation.

Upon the results of the Des Moines convention will largely depend the progress that will be made for silver this year. The transmississippi states especially should be fully and ably represented, for the opportunity to strike a winning blow for the cause of the white metal should be utilized to the utmost. Later developments at Washington, showing a determination to burden the country with more interest bearing gold bonds, while uncoined silver enough for present emergencies lies in the treasury, has more than ever convinced the people that the money power dominates our government and that until there is a change times will continue to get worse instead of better for the industrial classes. The conditions could not be more favorable than they are for the election of a silver congress. A sweeping popular expression in the West and South would change the complexion of the house of representatives and have a healthy influence on the recreant senators who have been bulldozed or corrupted by President Cleveland.

The strongest and truest men in the silver states should be at the Des Moines convention. The people are ripe for an aggressive movement against the dangerous encroachments of conspiring wealth and only need system and consolidation in the direction of their forces.—Denver News.

Nevada should, and probably will have a representation at this convention.

The workmen of Detroit, Mich. have come to the front on new lines. At a recent meeting they resolved and demanded as follows:

"We, the people of the United States of America, demand of our senators and representatives in congress that all taxation shall cease, and that in place of taxes congress shall issue and 'pay to the people,' for all debts, dues and expenses a full legal tender, treasury or green-back money, that shall be receivable for all debts and dues, both public and private, within the United States.

"And we demand that congress shall present to the people for their approval, an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the levying of taxes for any purpose whatever. And also prohibiting the licensing, authorizing or permitting the circulation of bank notes, bills of credit or anything else as a substitute for money, and making it the first and imperative duty of congress to provide and keep in circulation at all times, a sufficient quantity of lawful money, to prevent all need of credit or debt, and allow every person to be able at all times, and in all parts of the United States, to pay all balances in business transactions without pecuniary loss or unnecessary trouble.

"And we warn our senators and representatives that we will hold them strictly and immediately responsible for the complete fulfillment of these demands.

"We are tired of a congress that has always been the tool of the money lender and the enslaver of the laborer."

Last Saturday night, while William Johnson, a young San Jose lad, was running to a fire, he fell from exhaustion and died shortly after. At the inquest on his body it was ascertained that he was suffering from heart disease, which was aggravated by indulgence in the cigarette habit. This is but one of the many warnings to cigarette smokers.
